CANON OF DESIGN

DYNAMIC SYMMETRY INTERESTING INFO

Every root rectangle starts with the square.
(when the diagonal swings down it creates a new root rectangle)

The intersections are called eyes.

Add new lines by using the eyes.
(only when needed)

The polar point creates a spiral of smaller grids.

Dropping a line from a reciprocal diagonal creates a smaller version of the mother rectangle.